DANIELSON

McGregor post, G. A. R., has elected the following officers for the ensuing year: Post commander, R. Frank; senior vice commander, Francis Jaeger; junior vice commander, Theodore Fulton; quartermaster, A. H. Armstrong; chaplain, O. S. Arnold; of Goodwill; officer of the day, A. A. Perkins; surgeon, Michael Head, Sr.; adjutant, Benjamin E. Hupp.

Friends and acquaintances, here were surprised at the sudden death of Herbert S. Shaw, 57, an official of the Danielson and Putnam Gas and Electric company and treasurer of the Webster and Southbridge Gas and Electric company. Mr. Shaw was a visitor here on Thursday, the day preceding his death.

The following officers of the Webster and Southbridge Gas and Electric company were elected at a meeting of the company held at the hotel on Thursday, Dec. 16th: Albert E. Shaw was unanimously elected treasurer of the Webster and Southbridge Gas and Electric company. Mr. Shaw was a visitor here on Thursday, the day preceding his death.

At Webster, Dec. 16th, Albert E. Shaw was unanimously elected treasurer of the Webster and Southbridge Gas and Electric company. Mr. Shaw was a visitor here on Thursday, the day preceding his death.

Mr. Shaw had been seriously ill for some time. He was a member of the Danielson and Putnam Gas and Electric company and treasurer of the Webster and Southbridge Gas and Electric company.

Columbia council in eastern Connecticut came here Sunday afternoon to witness the conferring of a third degree upon a class of candidates of the Danielson and Putnam Gas and Electric company.

A real rush of Christmas trade came to Danielson's business men on Sunday after a week in which buying had not been particularly heavy, though more active than at ordinary seasons.

A wild storm of wind and rain that broke out of the southeast during the night and continued through the day for early Sunday morning service.

An audience of several hundred saw the K. of C. team go down to defeat before the Webster and Southbridge team at the town hall Saturday evening.

It would appear from what may be seen on state highways about Danielson any night that drivers of home-brewed automobiles are actually defying authorities.

A public warning heard Sunday that drivers of automobiles should be careful to observe the rules of the highway.

one and the severe illness of the other. This should be a week of giving on the part of those who would do something to provide holiday cheer for the needy of Danielson.

Heavy riding was the rule on the local line of the Connecticut company Saturday afternoon and evening and well filled cars seemed like old times to observers.

Henry B. Benson of Fall River spent Sunday with friends in Danielson. Banks report many new memberships for the 122 Christmas club that are being formed in Danielson.

Miss Catherine Lawton, a teacher at New Haven, is at her home in Brookline to spend the Christmas holidays. Christmas exercises will mark the ending of the term in a number of Killingly's schools on Friday of this week.

George Kles has been confined to his home on Broad street by illness for a few days. Carol will be sung at a candlelight service Christmas night at the Congregational church at South Killingly.

Lee J. L'Honnore post, American Legion, has voted to send Christmas packages to the three members of the post who are in hospitals.

According to the record of the Putnam probate court, Mrs. Mary A. Carpenter of Cambridge, Mass., and Mrs. Florence H. Dunfee of Lowell, Mass., have through their attorney, John F. Carpenter, appeared from the allowance to probate of the will of their father, Thomas L. Moffit.

A father out of work, a mother ill and six small children to be cared for. This is a condition in this city and village in which Miss Leonard, the Red Cross district nurse, the destitution of this family appeals to all classes of citizens at this gift-giving season.

Brand new skates on Christmas morning and no place to go? That was what was faced by the youngsters of Putnam under the Parvateachers' association.

The marriage of Wilfred Shorro, son of Dr. and Mrs. Harry W. Sharpe, of Putnam, has just been announced.

Dainty Little Gifts

It is with pleasure that we notify our customers that we are making a special exhibit of Pohlson gifts and cordially invite you to call. Interesting, useful and attractive are these novel creations, boxed as they are in their delicate "Silver Stripe." We are sure you can find here what you desire in selection. These are things for the household, gifts for men and women and a most complete line of baby and juvenile articles. Pohlson gifts have merit; they are properly boxed. We believe a gift, no matter how simple, should be neatly boxed and done up. Many of these things cannot be duplicated in time for your requirements, so we ask you earnestly to call early to see this most unique line of THOUGHTFUL LITTLE GIFTS. They defy a satisfactory description. You must see them to appreciate them.

Since the memory of man runneth not to the contrary, has the squatty wooden building standing at the four corners in Eastford and used as a general store, been a landmark in the little village. It is said to be over a century old. But the inhabitants are taking their last look at the one-story structure, for it is to be razed to give place to a modern, three-story block. The new block will continue to house a general store (Eastford now has two such) and will also have a large hall in the upper story, needed in the village for public meetings and gatherings for social purposes.

Christmas carols are to be sung in Putnam and Pomfret. Robert W. Boys, agent of the Manchester Manufacturing company, has taken the lead in forming a group of Putnam singers who will go about the city Christmas eve singing Yuletide carols. The singers will assemble on Union square at 8 o'clock and will walk about the city singing as they go with an occasional stop here and there. The carols will be under the direction of Arthur Chadwick and John H. Corbett. After two or three carols have been sung at the place of assembly the singers will proceed to the Grove street section, where they will sing while grouped about the Soldiers' monument. From there they will go to the north end of the city, stopping at the corner of Providence and Church streets, singing along the way. After concluding the program in Putnam, they will go to Pomfret, stopping first at the Day-Kimball hospital where the singing may be enjoyed by patients and officials, providing the officials think it wise to have the singing. The next stop will be at the place of assembly in Pomfret, and they will then proceed to the home of Mrs. F. Blodgett, the Ben Grosvenor, John Ash and others.

The annual transaction of street light bills generally runs in better condition than last year. Carter's company had evolved attention and there was no indication of any previous having been made in the stabilization of accounts or the making of late bills boxes. From what is known, the situation is not very far from a large amount of paying in the company's account should be retained. The present year's bill, and of the recognized life of the city, and the city's credit, is a record of a most successful year.
